Aircraft Appraisal Services

We want to be your aircraft appraisal company

Asset-based loan consideration relies on the accuracy of property valuation. It is impractical to staff enough experts for every type of asset evaluation. Aircraft Appraisal Services has an experienced, cross-product appraisal staff that provides comprehensive valuations for every type of aircraft.

Our ability to appraise an aircraft is founded on over 30 years of global market resale experience that takes into consideration technical innovations that affect the price of aircraft. There is no substitute for real-world experience when it comes to choosing an appraisal service.

We travel to any location on behalf of our clients and provide a comprehensive report within 48 hours that will withstand the scrutiny of any agency. Our firm has provided over 4 billion dollars of actuarial-based appraisals for some of the largest funding agencies in the world.

Our services range from single aircraft to fleet appraisals that include current value, market summaries, near-term and forecasted studies for lease and conditional sales agreements. The services are fee-based and typically absorbed by your customer. We have extensive experience in evaluating aircraft portfolios for banks and other financial institutions.

We value our membership in aircraft finance, business, and resale organizations worldwide and our director is the past president of the National Aircraft Appraisal Institute and founded the International Board of Aircraft Appraisals.

Our clients include some of the largest banks in the world along with noted law firms, individuals, governments, leasing companies and more.

OUR SERVICES

On Site Appraisal

Each aircraft is unique. Two aircraft that seem identical on paper may differ in value by millions of dollars. Accurate valuation depends on a thorough review of the aircraft records, current condition, and analysis of past and current maintenance along with precise market knowledge. We immediately travel to the aircraft for review while our home office researches every last aspect of that specific aircrafts history to develop the most comprehensive report. This report will exceed every requirement of any agency in the country including taxing bodies, collateral loan mandates, legal arenas, federal audit review boards and so on.

Desk Appraisal

Our database of every turbine aircraft built and their history allows us to capture the market range of a specific aircraft. While not near as comprehensive as an on-site appraisal, it is useful for a quick analysis in order to determine the near net worth of the aircraft.

Portfolio Review for Financial Related Companies

Aircraft Appraisal Services will review and investigate the aircraft in your portfolio and at your discretion, review your financial position in each aircraft. This creates a full analysis of each loan individually or as a whole. The report includes loan aging, residual value studies, intrinsic net worth, and forecasted net worth over the term of your loans. It will embrace forecasted impacts of known future mandates that can affect your aircraft portfolio over any term prescribed.

From a simple quick market scan, to forecasting a loan value over time, to wondering whether or not your current or new loan request makes any sense at all -one quick call will get the answer you need... and at no charge.

With over 4 Billion dollars of valuations accomplished-you are assured complete and accurate results-immediately.
